Opportunities in transition

Feb 2-4, 2015, Hyderabad, INDIA

BioAsia 2015: New Era of Life Sciences.

Being a most active sector of the global economy, life sciences sector is thriving with opportunities and growth, powered by innovation, scope and profound expertise. Asia and more specifically India are well poised to become a power house for the global life sciences sector. The Indian life sciences industry is on the threshold of entering a New Era of growth and positivity, promising extraordinary growth and an innovation driven bioeconomy. However, the big question remains whether the life sciences industry is prepared to exploit this evolving environment and capitalize on the big opportunity?

BioAsia 2015 - the twelfth edition of the widely attended annual convention, is all set to bring together the global industry leaders, researchers, policy makers, innovators and investors together on one platform discussing the new opportunities in the transition. Join us during BioAsia 2015 and contribute to building an ecosystem that rewards all the stakeholders.
